

1 Make sure the edit mode is ON (top right of the screen).

2 Navigate to a content area in your module.

3 To add a Blog to your content area, open the 'Tool' Menu and click on Campus Pack Blog.

4 Add the title of your Blog here, It's also useful to add a description of what the blog should be used for.

5 Select whether the blog is shared by the whole course, one is created for each group or one is made for each user.

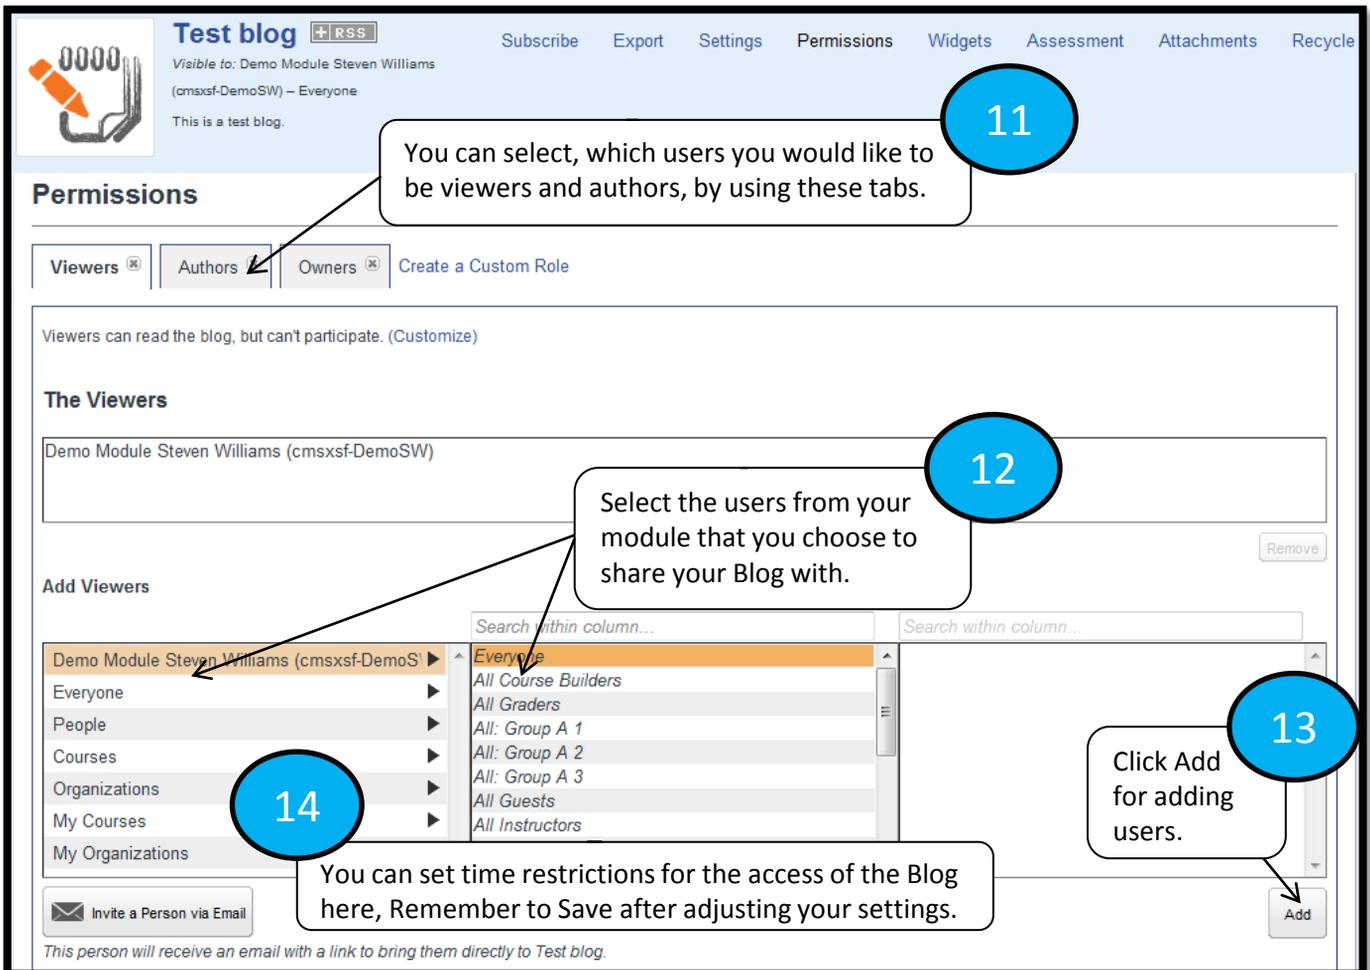

6 If the blog is assessed you can add a Grade Book Entry name, available points and whether students can see the grades.

7 If you would like to preview your blog click the 'Preview' link in the top right corner of the Blog setup page.

8 Click 'Add' once you are finished setting up your Blog.

- 9 Your Blog is now created and will be linked in your content area.
- 10 You will then need to select 'Permissions' from the settings drop down box.

Here we have another Blog but this time an individual Blog for every person in the module. If you are unsure about how to set up an individual Blog for every person, follow the steps from 1-4.

The options to the left appear all ticked so you would have go through and select just Student if you wish to have one blog per student.

If you have set up an Individual or Group Blog when you select the Blog link in your content area you are taken to an 'Assignment' page.

The Blogs that you create are not automatically available to users and requires the author to make the content available. Click on 'Click here to make it available'.

You will then be able to see and access the Blogs edited by the users, or groups inside your module.

The assignments are split between active and un-started Blogs where the active section will display the users that have edited the Blog and the un-started section will display the users that have not made any changes.
