

After you have created your blog it will open automatically for the first time, there will be no posts in the blog so you will get a screen like the one above. to add your first posts select "Add Entry".

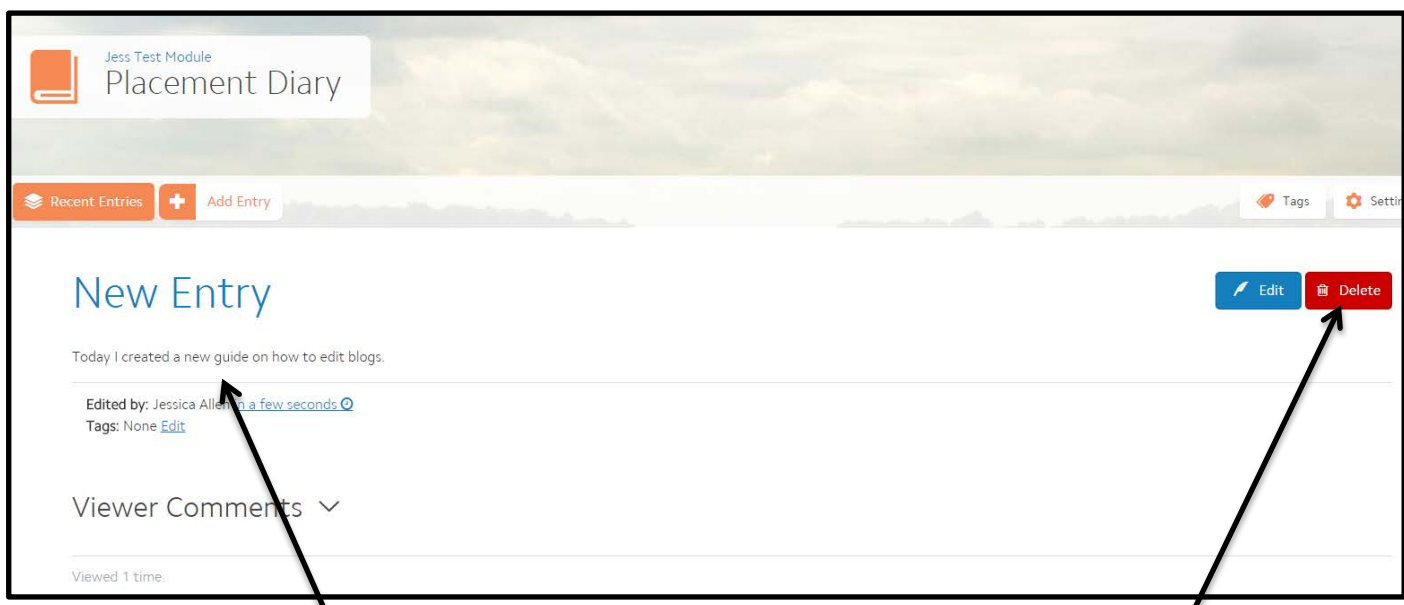

You will then be able to write your first post.

Click Save when you are happy.

Save

Cancel

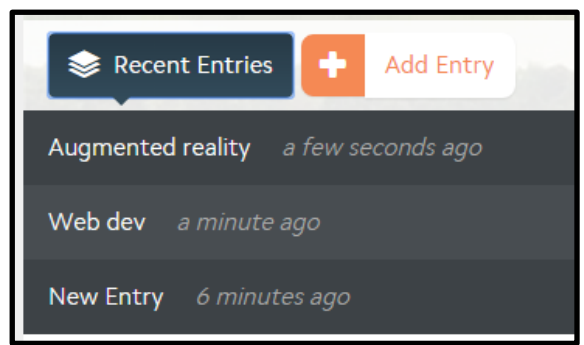

You can see your new posts here, posts will be displayed on their own page.

To delete or edit the post select here.

To add a new entry select here

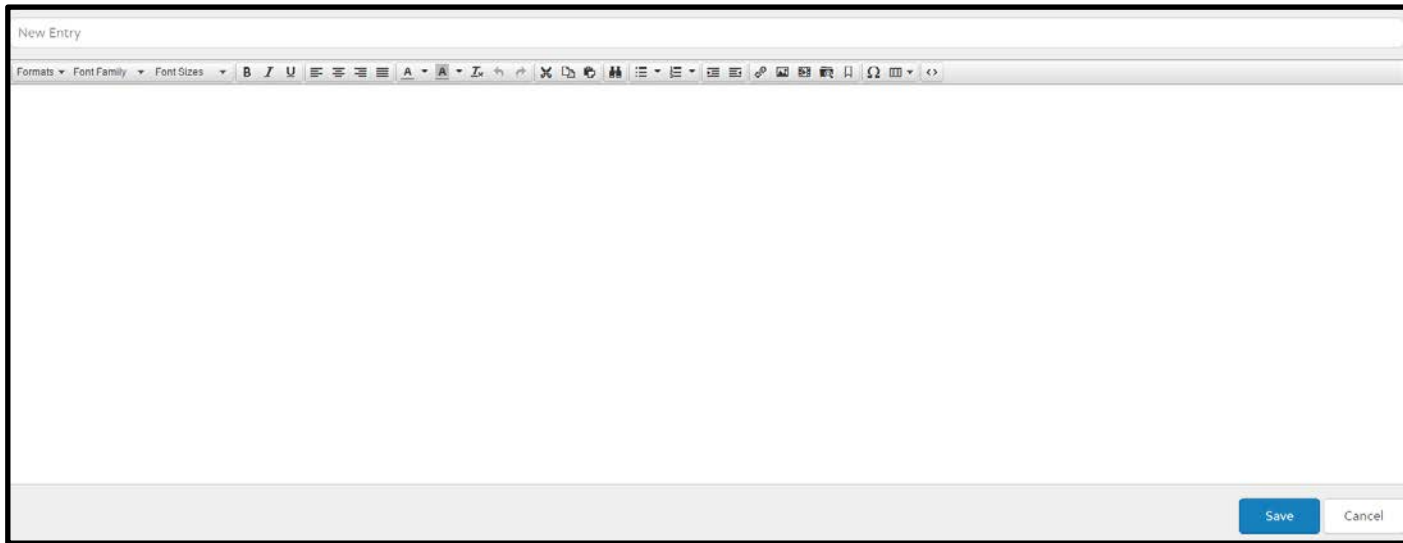

To see a list of all posts in your blog and navigate through them click here

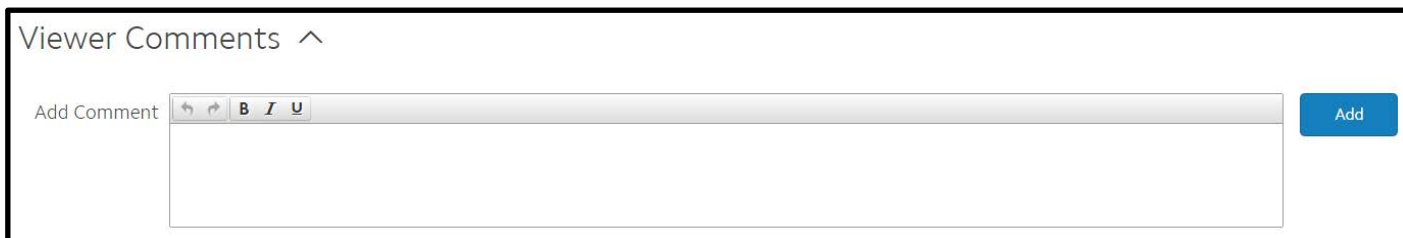

Click on the page you want to view.

You can also navigate through the pages by clicking this button On the right hand side..

If you select "Add Entry" you get this page again, you write your post into the dialogue box and select save when you are happy.

You can add viewer comments at the bottom of the page, this could be extra information about the post or a tutor leaving a comment on how the post could be improved. Simply write your comments and select "Add".